EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Win trust before you chase reach.

The strongest opening is a premium, proof-led routine for Australian consumers who are already buying active skincare but want fewer, clearer choices. Do not launch as another ingredient story. Launch as the calm, credible reset after over-complicated routines.

01 / POSITIONING	02 / CUSTOMER	03 / COMMERCIAL SIGNAL
Clinical clarity, not clinical theatre.	Skincare-literate, time-poor urban professionals.	A$58-A$72 is a credible hero-product test.
Make the product benefit understandable in five seconds: what it helps, who it is for, and what proof supports it.	They compare formulas, creator reviews and price-per-use before they buy. Familiarity and evidence reduce the perceived risk of a new brand.	This price band supports premium cues while leaving room for introductory bundles and efficient creator seeding.

RECOMMENDATION

Start with one hero serum and one simple routine bundle. The job of the first 90 days is to prove message-market fit, not maximise range.

CHANNEL & ACTIVATION

Build proof in public,
then buy scale.

PHASE	FOCUS	SUCCESS SIGNAL
Days 1-30	Creator seeding and landing-page message tests across Sydney.	30 pieces of usable proof; 3+ creator angles worth scaling.
Days 31-60	Meta conversion test with founder and creator-led education.	Landing-page conversion above 2.2%; repeatable A$35-45 acquisition range.
Days 61-90	Retargeting, bundles and a selective retail conversation.	25% of sales from returning visitors; a clear wholesale readiness case.

CHANNEL PRIORITY	WATCHOUTS
1. Creator proof and paid social 2. Owned education and email 3. Selective retail outreach	Keep claims substantiated and localise sun, climate and routine language. Avoid broad clinical claims unless product-specific evidence is ready.
